

APPLYING THROUGH AHA INTERNATIONAL

Because your university allows you to apply directly through AHA International, you should follow these steps:

1. Create a profile in the AHA online system

The first step in the AHA process is to create an online profile using the AHA online application system. Go to the program page for the location you intend to apply for, and click the “apply now” button. You will be prompted to fill out your personal details and create a log-in account. Then, you can select the term you would like to apply for. If you would like to apply for more than one term, select the “apply now” button again, and follow the prompts to select your second term.

The AHA online system is where you will access important information throughout the process of studying abroad.

2. Read university-specific application instructions

Once you have created a profile and logged in, please read the Application Instructions page for further details regarding the application process for your campus. Campus processes vary, so it is important to pay close attention to the details listed on the Application Instructions page.
